

To promote this workshop, the Committee of Scientific Societies of Social Sciences and Humanities of the Academy of Sciences of Cuba was inspired by the fact that Albert Einstein constitutes an outstanding example as a man of science who all of his life expressed himself resolutely, from very progressive standpoints, about many of the most urgent social and political problems of his day.

The following themes will be discussed::

- Albert Einstein and the Social Responsibility of Scientists
- The Russell-Einstein Manifesto and the Pugwash Conferences 50 years later.

Requests for participation should be submitted to any of the following members of the organizing committee:
